Carting doesn't have a national organization, but you can contact the national clubs of breeds typically involved in this sport, such as the American Rottweiler Club, the Saint Bernard Club of America, Bernese Mountain Dog Club of America, the Greater Swiss Mountain Dog Club of America, or the Newfoundland Club of America. Find contact information for these clubs on the AKC website.

The AKC offers a wide selection of programs for pedigreed dogs. The events include conformation, obedience, rally obedience, herding, coonhound trials, Earthdog tests, lure-coursing, tracking, agility, and field trials and hunt tests for pointing breeds, retrievers and hounds.

The UKC provides conformation, obedience, all types of hunting tests, agility and weight pull.

The World Wide Kennel Club offers conformation, obedience and rally obedience.

Contact these organizations for further information about each sport.
