

Dog Plays Cupid in 'Doggy Style'

Chihuahua mix turns matchmaker in new book.

Who doesn't love a grumpy, four-legged matchmaker?

In the novel "Doggy Style" by Jane May, mutt Miles loves his life. Rescued from an NYC animal shelter by his adopted "pack," Jen and Bob, Miles lives a blissful life with the loving couple until they break up and decide to share custody of their beloved pet.

Miles, a grumpy yet charming Chihuahua mix, knows this is wrong and decides to play matchmaker for the couple. He sabotages every date that Bob and Jen go on – to hilarious, and tender, results.

The book is in stores now.
