

ASPCA Website Lets You Shop for a Cause

New dog-themed merchandise supports the 140-year-old humane organization.

Posted: December 7, 2006, 5 a.m. EST

The ASPCA has introduced several new items to its online store, providing an opportunity for animal lovers to purchase gifts for two- and four-legged family members and friends while supporting the 140-year-old humane organization.

"This is a great way for people to purchase quality products that support our mission in a very real sense," says ASPCA president Ed Sayres in a statement.

New items include a sterling silver paw print necklace made exclusively for the ASPCA, a hand-painted silver and white "Mercy to Animals" glass ornament, dog breed luggage tags, and wine bottles that can be customized with your dog's picture.

Visit www.aspca.org/store for more information.