

Dog Lovers Shed Clothes for Charity

Money goes to aid organization that helps seniors keep and care for their dogs and cats.

Posted: December 14, 2006, 5 a.m. EST

Some Lansing, Mich., residents have shed their clothes for a calendar to raise money for Pet Support Services, a local charity that helps senior citizens who have suffered physical or financial hardships to keep and care for their pets.

The 2007 Bark & Buff calendars feature nude local folks with strategically placed canines of all breeds and sizes.

The project is the brainchild of Jana Nicol, who owns and operates Gone 2 the Dogs, a specialty store for dog lovers in Lansing.

This is actually the calendar's third year, and like previous years', two versions are available: an all-female calendar and an all-male one. Two sets of husbands and wives posed individually for the 2007 calendar.

The 2007 Bark & Buff calendars are available at online at www.sillydogproductions.com. The 2006 and 2005 calendars are also available at the site.

Information on Pet Support Services is available at www.petsupportmi.org