

The DogChannel Newswire (07-06-08)

Doghouses get a green roof; dogs take new of billions in stride; and other news.

Posted: July 6, 2008, 5 a.m. EDT

25 Abused Pets Rescued in Kentucky

Sixteen dogs and nine cats are recovering at the Bullitt County Animal Shelter after being left without food and water in a mobile home littered with feces, animal control workers said, the Louisville Courier-Journal reports.

Read the article >>

Doghouses Get a Green Roof With Cooling Plants

Green roofs are good. They clean the air, cool the house below, provide rest stops for birds and butterflies. If you work well with wood and want to try a green roof, why not start by building one for your dog? The Los Angeles Times reports.

Read the article >>

New York City's Dogs Take News of Billions in Stride

Froggy, a 5-month-old Yorkshire-Cairn Terrier mix, stared at the front-page news of a possible big legacy from Leona Helmsley, sniffed it dutifully and wandered off Wednesday for better sniffing elsewhere in the Washington Square Park dog run, The New York Times reports.

Read the article >>

Pooches, Piste and Powder in the Mix

It was a dog's day out at the Queenstown Winter Festival as record numbers of canines and their owners, such as Corey McCarthy and Toa, hurtled down Coronet Peak's slopes in the Dog Derby, Stuff.co.nz (New Zealand) reports.

Read the article >>

Three Deputies and Their Canines Win at California Trials

Three Ventura County Sheriff's Department deputies and their canine partners won the team championship in the Redondo Beach Police Canine Trials, the Ventura County Star (California) reports.

Read the article >>