

The DogChannel Newswire (07-12-08)

Dog dies saving owner; charity runners dye dog pink; and other dog news.

Posted: July 12, 2008, 5 a.m. EDT

Hero Dog Dies Saving Master

Another loyal dog who gave his own life to save his master from a poisonous snake bite became a hero of Taiwan pet lovers, the China Post reports.

Read the article >>

Charity Runners Dye Dog Pink

Meet Jake, a 10-year-old Bichon Frise, who is truly in the pink! His owner, Karen Winrow, who runs Rainbows Dog Grooming parlour in Mesnes Street, Wigan, has dyed him pink to raise money for Cancer Research UK, Wigan Today (United Kingdom) reports.

Read the article >>

Man Accused of Throwing Puppy in Lake

It's a case of animal cruelty that had children and other beachgoers very upset. The Putnam County Sheriff's Office arrested a man accused of throwing his dog into the lake at a public beach in Pomona Park, First Coast News (Florida) reports.

Read the article >>

Animal-Friendly Restaurants: A Dog's Dinner

Reporter Nicholas Roe visits a restaurant that welcomes canine customers and writes about his findings in Telegraph.co.uk (United Kingdom).

Read the article >>

Business Cleans Up After Pets

The Poop Marshal focuses on the control of zoonotic diseases. According to the CDC, more than 10,000 people annually contract roundworm, a parasite that lives and lays eggs in pet's intestines. A sanitized yard helps protect pets and family members from these and other unhealthy critters, the Arizona Republic reports.

Read the article >>