

Howl-O-Ween Pet Photo Contest Returns

Best dog costume winner gets free pet-waste removal service and dog food.

Posted: September 15, 2008, 5 a.m. EDT

A company that proudly bills itself as “#1 in the #2 business” is kicking off its third annual national “Howl-O-Ween” pet costume photo contest. Pet Butler, a pet waste removal service, encourages U.S. pet owners to show off photos of their dogs in creative costumes.

The grand-prize winner – Overall Best Costume – gets three months of free yard cleanup service (one visit per week) and a 40-pound bag of Life’s Abundance dog food from HealthyPetNet. The contest also recognizes second- and third-place entries in Overall Best Costume as well as winners in the categories of Cutest Costume, Most Photogenic, Scariest Dog, and Cutest Group photo.

Voting is open to the public. Winners will be announced in late October 2008, just before Halloween. All entries will be posted on the company website by Oct. 17.

E-mail entries can be submitted to TheScoop@PetButler.com.