

The DogChannel Newswire (05-07-09)

Drug-finding dog to stay on the job; owner says pet dog saved him from cougar attack; and other news.

Posted: May 7, 2009, 5 a.m. EDT

Dog Intervenes Between Man and Mountain Lion

A dog who a Wildomar, Calif., man once saved from being put to sleep threw himself between his master and a marauding mountain lion at Lake Elsinore, the Los Angeles Times reports.

Read now >>

Dixie the Dog Keeps Her Job

Dixie the drug-finding dog, whose job was on the chopping block in a cost-saving move by the city of Snohomish, Wash., won't lose her job with the Snohomish Police Department, The Seattle Times reports.

Read now >>

Woman Sues, Claims Police Dog Attack Was Unprovoked

A woman in Santa Ana, Calif., is suing the Cypress Police Department, claiming one of the department's German Shepherd Dogs attacked her in an unprovoked assault, the Orange County Register reports.

Read now >>

Injured Pit Bull Euthanized

The pit bull who attacked a Labrador mix in Florida and then was injured by that dog's owner with a weed whacker has been euthanized, the Daytona Beach (Fla.) News-Journal reports.

Read now >>

Twin River Track to Host Greyhound Racing Into August

The struggling Twin River gambling parlor in Rhode Island says it will host Greyhound racing into the summer, rather than close the track this month as initially planned, The Associated Press reports.

Read now >>