

The DogChannel Newswire (05-15-09)

Heroic dogs go head to head; world's tallest dog battles bone cancer; and other news.

Posted: May 15, 2009, 5 a.m. EDT

World's Tallest Dog Loses Front Leg to Cancer

Gibson — the world's tallest dog and one of Grass Valley, Calif.'s most famous residents — is suffering from bone cancer, Kcra.com reports.

Read now >>

Dogs Halt Traffic in Bronx; 1 Struck

In the dog eat dog world of New York City rush-hour driving, throw in an actual dog or two, really, and you have quite a tie-up, abclocal.go.com reports.

Read now >>

Boy's Idea: 'Feed the Dogs' to Keep Them Out of Shelters

Zach Wilson, 9, and his mom created the Central Florida Animal Pantry, the Orlando Sentinel reports.

Read now >>

Dog's Birthday Party to be Held at Neiman Marcus

Tiger Lily Wayman of Oak Brook, Ill., will celebrate her 10th birthday Friday at Neiman Marcus, in a private room adorned with floral centerpieces, a custom-designed chocolate ganache and yellow cake, and candy party favors wrapped in gold foil for her 70 guests. Tiger Lily is a dog, by the way, the Chicago Tribune reports.

Read now >>

Heroic Dogs Go Head to Head

Two Georgia dogs — Hank, the sweet-faced Beagle, and Charley, the stylish West Highland White Terrier — are among the real-life Lassies and Rin Tin Tins nominated for a special award to celebrate canine heroism, the Atlanta Journal-Constitution reports.

Read now >>