

The DogChannel Newswire (06-01-09)

Rescued dog helps another lost dog; “service dog” sleeps through owner’s arrest; other news.

Posted: June 1, 2009, 5 a.m. EDT

One Rescued Dog Helps Another Lost Dog

Blewett the black Labrador Retriever, a dog rescued from the woods himself, knows what it's like to need a little help, so it probably was no surprise when he recently rescued another dog, The Associated Press reports.

Read now >>

Snoozing ‘Service Dog’ Sleeps Through Owner’s Taser, Arrest

A Madison, Wis., man was Tasered, pepper sprayed and subdued by three police officers at a McDonald's restaurant after refusing to leave when a manager questioned him about his sleeping dog, whom he said was a service dog, the Capital Times (Wis.) reports.

Read now >>

Zap, Pow, Bow Wow! It's Bo Obama, Superhero

The first dog will guest-star in Marvel comic featuring a team of super-pets, Todayshow.com reports.

Read now >>

Neglected Russian Girl Found Mimicking Cats, Dogs

A 5-year-old Russian girl found in a filthy apartment imitating the cats and dogs she was shut up with has been placed in state custody as authorities consider neglect charges against her father and other relatives, The Associated Press reports.

Read now >>

Dog Killed in Maryland Home Invasion

Maryland State Police say two masked gunmen forced their way into an Elkton-area home, robbed a couple and killed their dog, The Associated Press reports.

Read now >>