There's a new man in Holly Madison's life.

The former star of "The Girls Next Door" – and Hugh Hefner's ex – has adopted a male Pekingese mix.

"PetSmart was having this little adoption fair the other day and I saw this Pekingese mix ... and we bonded right away," Madison told the Las Vegas Sun.

"He has blond hair and brown eyes so we match," she said.

Madison is taking French lessons so she decided to give her new pup a French "nom."

"I wanted to give him a French name and I couldn't think of a French male name that wasn't totally effeminate sounding," she said, so she settled on Napoleon.

"He's little so it works," she added.

Madison, a former Playboy model, is in Las Vegas while she stars in "Peepshow" at Planet Hollywood.
