

Dog Care TV Show Debuts on Animal Planet

Family-friendly "Faithful Friends" features pet care tips, expert advice, and celebrity interviews.

Posted: April 16, 2008, 5 a.m. EST

Animal Planet is adding a new show to its Sunday morning lineup. "Faithful Friends," which premiered April 13 at 9 a.m., features celebrity interviews, Q&A sessions, and an Ask the Vet segment.

Hosted by Wanda Goldberg, wife of actor and pro wrestler Bill Goldberg, the show will offer viewers informative segments and hands-on demonstrations about the health, nutrition, and well-being of pets. Drs. Race Foster and Marty Smith, founders of Doctors Foster and Smith, will be featured as the show's pet experts who give pet owners useful tips and advice.

Additionally, each episode will also air Itty Bitty Buddy segments featuring Electra Mustaine, 9-year-old daughter of musician Dave Mustaine of Metallica. Mustaine will focus on the needs of smaller pets such as rabbits, gerbils, guinea pigs, and more. "Faithful Friends" will run for 13 weeks and discuss topics including travel, grooming, spay and neuter, nutrition, and behavior.

Visit <http://faithfulfriends.tv> for more information.