

Scene Stealers

Get the scoop on five great dog movies.

Maureen Kochan

My Dog Skip (2000)An irresistible Jack Russell Terrier helps mend the rift between a 9-year-old boy and his remote father in rural Mississippi.

Old Yeller (1957)A stray dog wanders into the lives of a struggling farm family and becomes the young sons best friend.

Good-Bye, My Lady (1956)The poignant tale of an orphan who adopts an irreverent dog that laughs instead of barks and possesses an uncanny scenting ability.

Because of Winn-Dixie (2005)A lonely girl finds a sweet-natured dog that helps to heal her troubled family.

Lady and the Tramp (1955)A polished Cocker Spaniel escapes her confining owner and falls for a scrappy mutt from the wrong side of the tracks.

What's your favorite dog movie? Visit the message boards to discuss your picks.

Posted: April 1, 2006, 5 a.m. EST