

The DogChannel Newswire (06-04-07)

Stay up-to-date with the latest dog news from all around the country.

Posted: June 4, 2007, 5 a.m. EST

Dogs Trained to Sniff Out Bedbugs

Trained dogs can detect the scent of everything from bombs to humans, and now bedbugs may be added to list of things dogs can sniff out, Discovery News reports.

Read the article >>

Choosing a Dog Food Takes Research

Dog owners should do their homework before committing to a new feeding plan, because even among professionals, there's room for disagreement, The Myrtle Beach (S.C.) Sun News reports.

Read the article >>

Services for a Fallen Police Dog

In life, Bo the police dog soldiered alongside his police partner, rooting out drugs and criminals, following orders, applying his training, The Indianapolis Star reports.

Read the article >>

Search-and-Rescue Dogs Provide Valuable Service

The nonprofit organization Gateway Search Dogs Inc. and its members serve all Missouri city, county, state or national search-and-rescue agencies at no charge, The St. Louis (Mo.) Post-Dispatch reports.

Read the article >>

Council Barks at Dog Bylaw

Three weeks after the Saanich, British Columbia, council unanimously passed a motion to toughen up a dangerous dog bylaw, several councilors have withdrawn their support, The Saanich (B.C., Canada) News reports.

Read the article >>