

Australian Shepherd Overview

Is this intelligent breed for you?

The Aussie is a devoted and protective dog who needs to be kept active and made a true part of the family.

The Aussie is intense in his work, and this intensity carries over into everything that he does.

Training is a must with the highly intelligent and highly energetic Aussie. An untrained, bored Aussie will be an unruly dog prone to destructive behavior.

On the other hand, a well-trained, active, well-socialized Aussie is a delightful companion who is capable of doing almost anything with his owners.

The ideal Aussie owner has time and energy to devote to his dog.
