

German Shepherd Overview

Is the German Shepherd breed right for you?

1. A breed like the GSD, which is capable of so much, requires an owner who is just as capable and can devote time, energy and effort into developing his dogs potential.
2. The German Shepherd is good for a family that wants to make their dog a true part of their lives. He builds strong bonds of loyalty with those close to him.
3. An intelligent dog needs much mental and physical stimulation to prevent boredom and destructive behavior.
4. GSDs are wonderful companions for the right people, but prospective owners must first weigh all of the pros and cons.

Return to the German Shepherd Dog Breed Profile

Reprinted from Breeders Best: German Shepherd Dog © 2004. Permission granted by Kennel Club Books, an imprint of BowTie Press.